This Form Must Accompany Each Medical Review Request

This form is used to submit your medical review request to Federal Occupational Health (FOH) Services when you or your manager may require a recommendation from the FOH on (1) when and how much Family Medical Leave (Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA)) is needed or (2) your ability to perform the essential functions of your position as it relates to your medical condition (Reasonable Accommodations (RA)). This form provides FOH with the information needed to begin to process your medical review request and provide a recommendation to your manager. Please fill out this form in its entirety. FOH will review your request and provide a recommendation back to your IRS Point of Contact (POC). IRS has designated 6 (six) Labor Relations Assistants to handle FMLA requests and 25 Reasonable Accommodation Coordinators to handle ergonomic and reasonable accommodation requests. Your IRS POC will forward the FOH recommendation to your manager, who will then make the final determination on your request. You can find your IRS POC by using the information provided in Section 4.
